

Susie Farmer

I started quilting in 1993 thanks to my mother and was immediately bitten by the infectious and incurable “quilt bug” and have been quilting ever since. Most of my first quilts were hand quilted but due to my work obligations and time constraints, more of my quilting projects are now done by machine on my long arm. I tend to lean more towards making scrappy quilts which I find a challenge in creating.

I have been a member of the Kootenai Valley Quilt Guild of Libby, Montana since 1994 and have served a term as President, Treasurer and also Chairperson for Libby’s Nordicfest quilt show which is held each year in September. In 2004 I was named Quilter of the Year by the Libby guild and honored at the Nordicfest quilt show. I currently serve on the Education Committee through the guild which is involved in teaching beginning quilting.

I would like to dedicate the honor that I received of the “Viewers Choice” award in the 2008 Eureka quilt show to my mother, Dorothy Acton, my family and all my quilting friends. I appreciate their support and encouragement more than words could ever express.

I want to also extend a “Thank You” to the Eureka Quilt Show committee and all of the residents of Eureka who work so very hard in organizing and putting on one of the best quilt shows in the state of Montana.
